Important Orders.

We publish some important war orders to-day.

One of the orders, No. 17, announces that government bounties cease on the twenty-first instant, (to-morrow,) instead of the 22d, as generally supposed.

A New Military Department.

The department of the Ohio has just been created, composed of the states of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, and Kentucky east of the Tennessee river, including Cumberland Gap and the troops operating in its vicinity. To be under the command of Major General H. G. Wright. This officer was selected by General Halleck, and as he was only a major of engineers in the regular army, was promoted to a major generalship for that purpose. He is a native of Connecticut, a graduate from West Point, was in service since 1841, with Fort Royal Sherman at Hilton Head, and is said to have been popular with his command. We hope he will prove all right, and fight the rebels with an unyielding hand. We shall soon see, and by what he does learn whether there is indeed a new policy inaugurated in this war.

The Quota of Janesville.

The following are the best figures we can make, from all the information received, in relation to the quota to be raised from this city, and the town of Janesville, which is included with the city:

The quota on all the calls, 471
The quota to fill old regiments, 65
Credit as per telegraph, 536
401

The full quota, 135
Recruits in new companies:
Capt. Miles, 39
Capt. Milnor, 2
Wemple & Scott, 2
Lieut. Harlow, 1
Lieut. Armstrong, 1
Lieut. King, 2 — 89

Whole No. to be raised in city and town, 46
Of this number 19 will complete the quota for the old regiments, and 27 for the new calls.

Only FORTY-SIX to be raised to clear the city end town of Janesville from a draft. Let us do it. Remember that 27 must be raised to-morrow.

For the Old Regiments.

Lieut. King is enlisting for all the old regiments, at Engine House No. 2, where all information desired by recruits will be given.

A NEW REGIMENT.—The Governor has authorized the formation of a new regiment in the counties of Ozaukee and Washington. Senator Thorpe has been authorized to issue recruiting commissions, and the commission as colonel will be issued to F. W. Horn, should the regiment desire it.

CLARK COUNTY BANK.—The securities of this bank have been withdrawn from the office of the bank controller, and United States treasury notes deposited with which to redeem all of the outstanding bills of bank at par. Persons holding any of said bills can exchange them for treasury notes at the bank controller's office.

ARMS FOR THE 21ST.—One thousand stand of arms have been forwarded from Madison to Oshkosh to supply Col. Sweet's regiment. They are the French rifled musket.

HEADQUARTERS STATE OF WISCONSIN, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Madison, Aug. 16, 1862.

I. Enrolled officers are notified that from now on, persons who have joined companies since the date of the President's order of August 6th, for a draft of militia, are not exempt from service.

II. The inability to make immediate provision for the proper accommodation at camp, of the volunteers now being enlisted in the state, render it necessary that temporary accommodations shall be provided in the vicinity of the place of their enlistment.

It is therefore ordered, that companies or squads for all regiments other than the 20th, shall remain at their present localities until otherwise directed from this office.

Officers in charge are authorized to contract for the subsistence of the men at rates not to exceed forty cents per day, for board and lodging, until ordered into camp.

These accounts, properly vouched and receipted, will be paid by the United States disbursing officer at Madison or Milwaukee. This delay will be but temporary, and the patriotic citizens of towns where such renderings are made, are requested to contribute to the comfort of the men by such means as may be necessary.

III. The Governor is in receipt of the following order from the War Department, to-wit:

"Sixth.—The efficiency of the service requires that officers now in the field should remain with their commands, and no officer now in the field, in the regular or volunteer service, will, under any circumstances, be detailed to accept a new command."

No leave being granted, the commissions of those persons who have been designated to commands in volunteer regiments now organizing in the state, and who are prevented by the above order from acceptance of the same, are hereby revoked.

What Massachusetts is Doing.

TUTT'S COLUMN, MAZDRO, Mass., Aug. 16, 1862.

Will Wisconsin fill her quota without drafting? is the question constantly suggesting itself to me.

Judging from what I hear, and from the fact that prominent journals such as the Tribune and Post, when speaking of states whose quotas are already or likely soon to be filled, say nothing of Wisconsin, I have almost concluded that her name is not to be on the ROLL OF HONOR! Must it go down on the historic page that the patriot was not equal to the hour! that her quota could be raised only by drafting! Every day people ask me what my state is doing. I confess I don't know exactly what to tell them. Are the farmers too busy with their harvest to hear the clarion call of country? I believe Wisconsin has never yet failed to do her whole duty, and hope she will not now.

Massachusetts will fill her quota of the first 300,000 without drafting, and the prospect now is that the second call will be answered by volunteers. Already, in some towns, more have offered themselves than can be accepted. Boston is fully aroused. Everybody asks everybody, "Have you enlisted yet?" At two o'clock in the afternoon the bells all over the city begin to ring, and the shutters on the shops to clatter. Men forget the business of buying and selling, and give themselves up to the work of recruiting. The merchants of Boston are doing a noble work. Many are already in the ranks. Nearly all have pledged themselves to take back, on their return from the war, all their clerks who enlist.

To an outside observer the city presents a holiday aspect, but there is work done. Stands are erected in different parts of the city, and addresses made to the assembled crowds. Yesterday I had the honor of speaking at the stand in the yard of the Old South Church, by invitation of the general recruiting agent of the city. When invited to speak I told the agent that I had no speech, and could only say that I had enlisted—had left the college for the camp—books and study for the musket and the drill. He said that that was all he wanted, and that none should speak but those who could say come. Our regiment is nearly full. We go into camp immediately, and hope soon to see active service.

MATHEWICAN.
Correspondence of the Gazette.
From the Eighth Regiment.

CAMP CHAMBERLAIN, Mass., Aug. 16, 1862.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I have just returned from a foraging expedition, with 150 men and eight teams. We went out about ten miles from camp, and came in with the teams all well loaded with green corn, peaches, apples, and such other vegetables as the country afforded. It just suits us to go out on such tramps as that. The rebels just begin to feel the effects of the war now. Niggers leave the corn leaves, and all the fruit disappears, and Mr. Rebel has nothing left. In the language of scotch, "It's a sorry war, indeed." I had orders before leaving camp to take the property of such persons as had sons or husbands in the rebel army, in preference to others. Before coming down on their fields I proceeded to the houses of the planters and questioned the occupants as to their loyalty, and in almost every case I found that some one of the family was in the rebel service. When I told them my business they would squirm a little; but I told them to keep quiet, for orders were orders, and orders must be obeyed in war times. The women appeared to feel very bad about our seizing their vegetables and fruit. In many cases the tears flowed down their cheeks in streams; but that is played out. Soldiers have got so that they can stand almost anything, and even the tears of the fair sex of the "sunny south" don't affect them a mite. One man said, "Now look here, my good woman, I can just pick two ears of corn to every tear you shed." Our's was the first expedition that had been out. They will soon get used to it, for I saw a large train pass here this morning from the third division on the same business. The war has just begun now in earnest, and the rebels see it plainly, too. They begin to think now they ought to have planted cotton instead of corn. Our armies have just begun to live now, and off of the rebels at that.

We leave here to-morrow morning, the whole division, bag and baggage, for some place unknown as yet to us, but the rumor is we go into Alabama. The hospital stores and all the sick leave this afternoon by rail. I have one sick man in the hospital now, Sergeant Williamson, of Janesville. He has a fever, but is not considered dangerous. He is better to-day. Capt. Lyon is also sick and confined to his cot, and has been so for some days. He has received his commission as Colonel of the 13th regiment.

As we are preparing to leave, I must close. I will write you again when we come to a stop. My best wishes to all the folks.

Respectfully yours,
W. B. BRITTON,
Capt. 8th Reg. W. V.

CAN'T WE DO BETTER.—The editors of the Madison Patriot have ordered new suits of clothes to attend the funeral of abolitionism. No use, neighbor. There never was a case known of a man witnessing his own burial. Have you forgotten the time when you were "abolitionists," and advised everybody else to be, and called on the government to arm the slaves?

To-Day's Report.
(Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.)

MORNING DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.
The treasury department will begin the delivery of the new postal currency to-morrow. It will be issued at the rate of $27,000 per day.

Rumors are current to-day that the rebel General Jackson is coming up the valley to outflank Pope and attack Washington. There is probably no foundation for the report.

New York, Aug. 19.
A correspondent of the Philadelphia Enquirer, under date of Fort Monroe, Aug. 17th, says:

"When I left Harrison's Bar, yesterday morning, the entire army was moving, and all the transports were en route for Fort Monroe. Nothing was left behind except a small lot of damaged hay and two old canal boats, which were fired. The army was crossing the Chickahominy yesterday by means of a pontoon bridge 2,000 feet long, formed of upward of a hundred pontoon boats. By personal observation this morning, I find that, with few exceptions, our entire fleet of transports have arrived here. So I may say the entire fleet is safe."

Fort Monroe, Aug. 18.
Today the old bridge across Hampton Creek was rebuilt, and a pontoon bridge was laid across near it. A force of cavalry arrived at Hampton, to-day. A large number of troops are encamped about two miles east of Newport News to-night. A large baggage train is now at Hampton. Gen. Burnside is now at Fort Monroe, and there is now some talk of his taking command of the army now in command of Gen. McClellan. That a portion of this army must remain on the peninsula is evident, and between Hampton and Yorktown as there are twenty acres covered by hospitals. At Hampton a railroad is now being completed between there and Fort Monroe.

Dover, Del., Aug. 18.
The Delaware union convention nominated Wm. Cameron, an old democrat, for governor. Geo. B. Fisher was re-nominated for congress by acclamation. Great enthusiasm prevailed among the immense crowd.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.
Special to Tribune.—The mind of the government is again agitated touching the censorship of the press. Complaints have been made that news of important movements by the national armies is prematurely published in some of the New York journals. Gen. Halleck has determined to order correspondents out of the lines of Gen. Pope, if not also of those of other generals, and that the exodus will commence very shortly.

THE DELAWARE UNION CONVENTION.
Special to Herald.—The train from Huntsville was fired into to-day, near Columbia. A woman and child were killed and eight teams. We went out about ten miles from camp, and came in with the teams all well loaded with green corn, peaches, apples, and such other vegetables as the country afforded. It just suits us to go out on such tramps as that. The rebels just begin to feel the effects of the war now. Niggers leave the corn leaves, and all the fruit disappears, and Mr. Rebel has nothing left. In the language of scotch, "It's a sorry war, indeed." I had orders before leaving camp to take the property of such persons as had sons or husbands in the rebel army, in preference to others. RECRUITING WILL SOON BE PHILADELPHIA'S QUOTA FOR THE FIRST 300,000 MEN.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.
Recruiting was very brisk to-day, and if continued will soon fill Philadelphia's quota for the first 300,000 men.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.
It is believed by the saved passengers that the treasure of the Golden Gate is deeply buried in sand, and scarcely a possibility of saving any. Capt. Hudson characterized a schooner at Manzanilla and made several trips to the wreck.

News from British Columbia to the 13th report, the Canadian favorable. More gold has been received in that district this year than in the corresponding period last year. A scarcity of provisions is reported.

NEW MADRID, Mo., Aug. 20.
A force of cavalry from this point, under Capt. Frank Moore, while on an expedition to Charleston, attacked a rebel camp on White Oak Ridge, west of Hickman, killed four of the enemy, and nineteen were taken prisoners, including three captains, 77 horses captured, and about 100 stand of arms. Capt. Moore and one private wounded; none killed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.
The officers confined in the jail at Charleston, S. C., have arrived here all well.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.
The Herald says, editorially, we are inclined to expect that Gen. Butler's next field of operations will be Gen. Grant, and with the restoration of the old flag over the custom house, Charleston will be long before under the wholesome discipline of Gen. Butler.

An army letter in the Times says the last soldier of the retiring army passed the Chickahominy at 2 o'clock, Monday night. There has been no attack on the rear, and no loss of any kind, and this retrograde movement has been a perfect success.

BALTIMORE, August 20.
Gen. Michael Corcoran will arrive here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He will address the Irish of this city to-night.

NASVILLE, Aug. 20.
Rumored evacuation of Chattanooga and the movements of rebels towards Knoxville and Richmond. Great activity here in military circles; troops arriving here from the north for several days. Dispatches from Adjutant General Thomas to Gov. Johnson says: Union Tennesseans are held in confinement as prisoners of state. Gov. Johnson has a number of corresponding traitors for exchange.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 20.

"Who Struck?" J. J. R. Pease?

Desiring that shirks, whether banking corporations or individuals, should occupy their true position before the public in this hour of national peril—regretful that any should attempt, by subterfuge, to occupy a false position to escape the merited obloquy of a true but disgraced one—believer that a stubborn, selfish refusal to do a good act is equally reprehensible with the performance of a bad one—I recently, in the Gazette, called attention to the fact that the Rock County Bank had declined to contribute to the war fund. The article was published over my own signature, not from any desire to make myself, by the obtrusion of my name, personally the antagonist of another, but because in no other way could its publication be obtained.—The whole scope and import of the communication was that the bank refused to take county scrip—declined to contribute material aid to the fund necessary to be raised to pay bounties for enlistments.

This communication Mr. J. J. R. Pease has seen fit to reply to in an article written in questionable English and published over his own signature, wherein he characterizes it as an "assault" upon the bank—whether upon its character or its vault he does not indicate, and in which he seeks to make the Central Bank responsible for the offence charged. Now, the fact is, the article was both written and published without consultation with any other officer of that bank, and without the knowledge of any other officer thereof. But not satisfied with holding the Central Bank solely responsible for what he represents must be considered its official act, or confining himself to the very difficult and embarrassing labor of showing how and wherein the Rock County Bank has met public expectation and responded to earnest appeals for aid that it were little less than disloyal to withhold, I am also personally held responsible for the grievous offence of stating that this bank refuses to give, and some statements are made by Mr. Pease that are doubtless intended to be to my personal disparagement—the most serious of which is that I spent last summer "looking at Europe through glass spectacles," while he "was most actively engaged in those days in the good cause" at home. Well, Mr. Pease does not indicate what kind of spectacles he would have looked at Europe through, though the presumption obtains that leather would have been his preference, since he objects to glass as altogether to my discredit. He seeks to provoke a comparison between his own efforts in the cause and mine. I frankly say I have done nothing to boast of. Has he? Beside his laborious and successful effort that gave important offices in the 13th regiment to two of his brothers-in-law, to whose worth I feel it a pleasure to bear testimony, the public need, as they are waiting for, some reminder other than his own vainglorious boasting. Such reminder would never be better received than at the present moment. Money must be had to pay bounties. Your subscription, Mr. Pease, is not made unless made since your article was published. Shall it be withheld, and you still felicitate yourself with the patent delusion that past "services," whatever they may have been, can exempt you from the stern duties demanded by this the darkest and most perilous hour of our struggle? If there be merit in withholding your aid and influence, you will thank me for the reluctant service I do you in this public announcement of the fact. You close your communication with the remark that you "might say some more." No matter though you say "say some more" if you do "some more." There is less need of talk than action, but I shall not object that you exhaust your speech if, at the same time, you shall open your purse.

Mr. Pease is mistaken, utterly, in his representation of being "brought into contact" with me in the matter mentioned. According to his own showing, I was in Europe at the time, and "Conger & Co." took no such part in a business transaction as he assigns them.

It seems that all that can be said to the advantage of the Rock County Bank is that it purchased $15,000 of Wisconsin state bonds. These bonds it has deposited in the comptroller's office as security for its circulation, and they were purchased for that identical purpose. The bank was required to put up bonds, and the purchase was therefore a necessity as well as an advantage to it. The public will judge how much merit there was in doing what the bank was compelled to do to be able to circulate its notes. It saw fit to purchase Wisconsin bonds as a business matter, in preference to other bonds, and in so doing it paid the state their value. Now what else has it done?

Mr. Pease is mistaken in his statement in regard to the Central Bank. That bank offered the state a loan of twenty thousand dollars, which offer was declined by the Governor, for the reason that the money was not needed. This is all there is of the offer and failure spoken of by Mr. Pease. Yet he seeks to leave the impression that the Rock County Bank loaned the state $15,000, (which is not true,) while the Central refused to loan.

Now, the Central Bank has taken fifteen hundred dollars county scrip, and has subscribed eighty dollars to the city bounty fund. When the Rock County Bank has done something in the same way for the same cause, the subscriber will make a note of it, but until the money comes, it is of no use to seek to escape scrutiny under a display of offering to discount farmers' notes, well indorsed, at usual rates.

H. S. CONGER.

A FULL TEAM.—Mr. Isham, one of the editors and a war correspondent of the Chicago Times, who was arrested by order of Gen. Grant, charged with the publication of false news in fact and pernicious in tendency, has been ordered to the Alton penitentiary until the termination of the war.

A volunteer has for rent a house near the Methodist church. Would prefer a small family who will board a lady in payment of rent. Inquire at E. G. Harlow's recruiting station.

Woman's Patriotism—A Touching Incident.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As some of the mothers seem to lack patriotism in withholding their husbands and sons from the great cause above all others in this our nation's peril, I think the example of a noble woman who arose in an enthusiastic meeting, a few miles from our town, last evening, ought to be emulated.

Just before the speaker arose to address the audience, she, good old lady, rose to her feet, and said she had five sons now in the army fighting to maintain our nation's honor, and another son about sixteen, whom she would gladly send as drummer boy, whose health would not permit him to fight, and her husband had just enrolled his name, "and now," said she, "I propose three cheers for our good old flag," (one of which was then suspended over the speaker's stand,) and with those words she walked up and kissed the flag that she had yielded up her heart's treasures to sustain.

A WIFE.
[We doubt whether there can be found, among the many incidents of noble patriotism developed by this war, a more magnanimous example than the above. We hope our correspondent will give us the name of this American mother, as it is worthy to be recorded with those of the women of 1776, who sacrificed so much for Liberty and for Country.—EDS.
